Alejandra Ruddoff's sculpture "Alma" from 2018 represents the visualisation of a temporal twitch. "Alma" is a representation of time and an analysis of material changes within time.

The choice of material already reflects this thematic exploration. The artist uses the wood of the cherry tree, which is the fastest-growing tree in the world. In the superimposed structures of the sculpture's plastic relief, the dynamics of the eternal cycle and its currents of power are revealed breathtakingly.

Sculpture made of Kiri wood, 2018. Signed. Height: 130 cm. Width: 130 cm. Depth: 12 cm.
