€13,000.00

Product no.: IN-930951

In 2001, Gregor Schneider received the "Golden Lion" for his impressive contribution to the Biennale di Venezia: He recreated and interlocked the interiors of his parent's house in the German Pavilion with the so-called "Dead House u r". With this unique piece, a golden lion balancing on its nose, he refers to this very award of the Biennale jury and seems to satirise it.

Sculpture in bronze, 2001-2013. Signed on the underside of the pedestal. Height (without pedestal): 14.5 cm.
